Class: COMM 1336.001 Video Production I
Lab: You will have additional work outside of class
Class meets: Monday and Wednesday: 9am – 10:45am

General Information

Textbook: The textbook we will use is “The Shut up and Shoot” Documentary Guide. There will be additional handouts and notes in class. Keep up with the notes because that is where information for the exams will come from and will help you when working on projects. You will also be assigned some videos to watch on YouTube and other sites.

Attendance Policy: The attendance policy in this class will be enforced. Students will begin the semester with 50 points for the semester for attendance. After 2 absences (excused or non-excused) from the class 5 points will be deducted from the 50points for each absence thereafter. After the 5th absence a student cannot pass this class. On December 3rd students will be informed in class if they are exempted from the in-class written portion of the Final Exam if the student has meets the following:

1. Student has a grade of an A with 2 (two) or less absences
2. Student has a grade of a B with 1 (one) or less absence
3. Student has a grade of a C with 0 (zero) absences

Grade Determination: The student’s grade will be determined on the basis of their performance in class. It will include class attendance, in-class participation, quizzes, exams, and projects. Each activity will be weighted as follows:

| | | |
|--------------------------|-----|-------------|
| Attendance/Participation | | 100 Points |
| Handouts (5) | 20 | 100 points |
| Exam (3) | 100 | 300 points |
| Quizzes (5) | 20 | 100 points |
| Projects (3) | | 250 points |
| Final Project | | 150 points |
| Total Points | | 1000 points |

Projects will NOT be accepted late. If you miss an exam you will have to take the in class written Final Exam. I will have your class average through out the semester.

This is a communications and video class but I do not want students using cell phones during class or listening to music in class. Leave your smart devices in your car or dorm room if you can't stay off of them. I will ask nicely once to put it up after that I will take them up and return them at the end of class. All I ask is for respect in class of me and others in class. This is a learning environment not a place to enjoy your entertainment.

There is some outside of class time commitment for this class especially after the first couple of weeks. So the excuse "I do not have time to work on the project" will not be accepted.

Purpose of the course: This course will provide students with a general knowledge of the fundamentals of television production and the process of operating television and video equipment. Students will learn the process of planning for a television or video production. They will learn the pre-production, production, and post-production stages of videoing an event. The student will gain knowledge in operating field cameras, studio cameras, video machines, non-linear editing, basic lighting, audio for video, and computer-generated graphics. The student will understand how to tell a story visually.

Course objective: Upon successful completion of this course, the student will be able to demonstrate a working knowledge of the equipment used for video production in a studio or out in the field. The student will also have knowledge of the terminology used in the television and video industry, and the process of producing quality video productions.

Students with disabilities, including but not limited to physical, psychiatric, or learning disabilities, who wish to request accommodations in this class should notify the Special Services Office early in the semester so that the appropriate arrangements may be made. In accordance with federal law, a student requesting accommodations must provide acceptable documentation of his/her disability to the Special Services Coordinator. For more information, call or visit the Special Services Office in the Student Services building, or call 894-9611 ext. 2529 or the Counseling Center at ext 2366.

Diversity Statement:

In this class, the teacher will establish and support an environment that values and nurtures individual and group differences and encourages engagement and interaction. Understanding and respecting multiple experiences and perspectives will serve to challenge and stimulate all of us to learn about others, about the larger world and about ourselves. By promoting diversity and intellectual exchange, we will not only mirror society as it is, but also model society as it should and can be.

The idea of this class is for students to learn how to produce videos and to learn the visual storytelling process. Just like any other job or task the more you practice or do the job the better you get at it. What I hope you become is a better visual storyteller using the tools we have for you here at South Plains College. The video industry has so many different types of equipment for a person to use to make good quality entertaining videos, but keep in mind that it is NOT the equipment that makes a good video it is the Storytelling process. It is the ideas, the creative process, the writing, and all that put together using the equipment to make the story come to life!

Here at SPC we do have some nice video cameras, lighting equipment, and sound equipment for the students to use to create videos. So I ask you PLEASE be careful with the equipment and treat it with respect and care. If you are not sure how something works just ask for help.
